She sunk immediately in eight feet water aft, with her bow out. No lives were lost and but a small lot of ber freight was damaged by water. Mr. Billy Clark, her clerk, arrived here last night on the Olive Branch. The Hambleton is about four years old and was owned by Capt. Thomas Bowman. Grand Balloon Ascens on -A Cone Deg.

A large crowd of pleasure-seekers and of those who were charitably inclined, went out yesterday to Central Park to attend the fete champetre given by Messrs, McClure & O'Conner for the benefit of St. Peter's Orphan Asylum. A grand bill of amusements were offered for the day, and we understand that all enjoyed themselves who went out. The feature of the day was a grand ascension, which we have noticed extensively for lays past, of Prof. Brooks and his grand balloon "Constitution" Some local excitement was created by the announcement that a lady and gentleman, well known in this city, would accompany him. When the time came the lady "backed out," we understand, but the gentleman went up. The ropes were cut about five o'clock, and the balloon shot up into the air like a rifle ball. The last seen of it, it was floating northward, apparently in a slow upper current, at the following Representatives were least a mile from the earth. Little Joey found to be present with proper creden-Britton, who, with the confidence of tisis: N the Professor, to be carried up and sent down by a parachute, hoping thereby to make his 'purp' famous among other dogs. When about two thousand feet high the 'dorg' was turned loose in mid air, but alse for his success as an eronaut, the parachute did not open, and the last ng down toward the earth " like a failing star." Up to the latest accounts, al ough it is supposed that he had got down, he had not come home, and it is surmised that the poor dog is lost. Joey offers $20 reward for his safe recovery row. When last seen the balloon was rapidly descending, apparently some five or six miles north-northwest of the WE LEARN that the match between city, but up to present writing (midnight) no news of the balloon or its crew have come to hand.

THE CAMPAIGN.

Meeting at Stillman Hall.

Speeches by Hon. John W. Leftwich, M. L. Perkins and Stillman Hall has not been so well filled for a long time as it was last night in response to the call in the morning papers, to hear the Hon. John W. Left-wich and other Democratic leaders. The excellent brass band of John Jones was present, and added not a little to the ar-dor of all present. Dr. Leitwich was the first speaker, and on taking the stand, was loudly and enthusiastically cheered. He opened with a brief review of the canvass, its progress and the present condition and aspiration of all parlies; contrasting the decency and social status of the white men composing the two antagonistic parties, in the course of which remarks be depleted in a vivid Radicalism.

He described the difference between the Democratic and Radical parties as being simply this: the Democratic party seeks to bring all men to near a common level by trying to elevate the negro to the level of the white man, the same level by degrading the white whose name did not appear | man to the level of the negro. We are now informed by gentlemen of the bar that Judge Carey has refused to grant the mandamus, upon the ground that no certificate was necesary in such a case. The only inference hal can be drawn from this decision is hat the applicant has the right to vote cithout a certificate. This is a new phase of the registration business, and will no loubt startle some of the faithful. Hundreds of honorably discharged Union soldiers throughout fennemes have here-tofore been denied the right of voting by the arbitrary action of irrespon ers of Registration, and we hope that the ruling of Judge Carey will be acquiesced in by the other courts of points: In commencing his report, the Grand Patriarch briefly reviewed the year that had passed since the last convocation, and said it had been one of unexampled prosperity to the Order. He also alluded lingly to the deep and heavy responsibilities which attached to his position. He then proceeded to lay before the Conceation a record of his official acts fo the past year, of which the following is a compendium: With a view of increasing our membership sufficiently to entithe us to an additional representative in the Grand Lodge of the United namer the degrading tendencies of states, my first official act was to issue stidicalism.
